

Chocolate for the Philippines

Like every year we are sending packages with chocolate to our friends from the Philippines.

Nicole, Marie Antoinette and Art Louis can't wait to finally get the package from Germany. Of course they have chocolate at the Philippines, but the kids love the German chocolate.

Last year a special wish came true for Art Louis. He got a Transformer of Lego from us.

When I was at the Philippines in October 2014, I realized, that the Christmas Time starts a lot earlier than it does in Germany. Most stores were already playing Christmas music and had already sold Christmas trees. The Philippines don't have natural Christmas trees like we do in Germany, therefore they are selling a lot of plastic trees in many different colors.
